First National Title Adds Craig Dunbar to Agency Staff

Plano, Texas - First National Title Insurance Company (FNTI) CEO Chris Phillips is pleased to announce the addition of industry veteran Craig Dunbar to its agency staff. Craig joined FNTI as regional agency representative with responsibilities in Texas and New Mexico. He has over 30 years of experience in the title industry and recently served in executive positions in the New Mexico Department of Insurance.

“We are very pleased to have a title insurance professional with the varied experience Craig brings to the table. His extensive knowledge of the industry from the perspective of both the agent and underwriter is unique and extremely valuable. Craig operated an independent agent for 11 years and then spent 20 years with a national underwriter in direct operations and in the agency arena. That experience, together with his most recent duties as an insurance regulator, provides FNTI with the most comprehensive agency staff in the state. Our primary focus continues to be addressing the needs of the independent agent, and during this transition year of 2014, FNTI’s multi-talented staff will be a valuable resource to all our clients,” said Phillips.

Craig will be responsible for expanding FNTI’s territory and increasing revenues from the company’s independent agent base. “His long-term relationships in Texas and New Mexico will allow us to grow our network of quality agents and achieve our expansion goals. Adding a third agency representative gives us flexibility and the ability to be more accessible to the agents. As our industry becomes more complex and regulated, personal attention to our agent’s needs is paramount. We now have the added resources committed to those needs.” Phillips stated. “We are very excited to have Craig on our team.”
