First National Title Insurance Company Adds Key Members to its Florida Team

PLANO, Texas – First National Title Insurance Company (FNTI) has announced key additions to its Florida team, signaling major growth in the Florida market. FNTI being a title insurance underwriter at the forefront of keeping the independent title agent as its priority, announces Mara Alyson as its underwriting counsel and south Florida agency director. This position was created to bring an innovative approach to legal needs and agency support for its agents. FNTI also announces it has brought on Ginger Clements to lead the Title Plant Operations for Florida.

George Stablein, executive vice president of FNTI stated, “We are excited to have Mara join FNTI. Having a Florida attorney with ties to her community further reflects our dedication to providing local solutions to underwriting questions. Mara has already grown our presence in the Florida market as she brings new agents to FNTI.”

Mara Alyson will be available to all Florida agents for underwriting questions. She will also be conducting educational classes on title insurance, assisting agents with business development, and expanding FNTI’s footprint in the South Florida area. Adding an attorney with almost two decades of title experience from both the legal and business side of the title industry provides FNTI and its agents with a new and exciting resource for legal and business growth. Mara Alyson explained, “I admire FNTI’s dedication to the local independent agent. I am excited to apply my experience and knowledge to assist Florida agents.”

Working with the Florida team, is Ginger Clements, head of Title Operations. Title Operations is the direct link between agents and FNTI for production of title searches, examinations, and preparation of Commitments and Policies. Ginger is a well-seasoned title examiner and has decades of experience in title production. Jay Hansli, Florida agency manager, said, "I've worked with Ginger for many years.

When the opportunity arose to add a position in Plant Operations, I knew Ginger was perfect for the position. Her dedication to customer service makes Ginger the best suited for Plant Operations."

Adding new positions to the Florida team reflects FNTI's growth in Florida and its commitment to providing quality products and services.
